The European Inter-University Centre for Human Rights and Democratisation (EIUC) was established in Venice in 2002 aiming to provide an institutional foundation and autonomous management to the European Master's Programme in Human Rights and Democratisation (E.MA).

Forty-one member Universities across Europe have developed a joint Human Rights educational programme. The European Master's Programme in Human Rights and Democratisation (E.MA) is the main teaching programme of EIUC, with the Venice Academy of Human Rights and the Venice Summer School of Human Rights.

E.MA is an intensive one-year advanced master's programme to educate 90 professionals in the fields of human rights and democratisation. The inter-disciplinary programme reflects the indivisible links between human rights, democracy, peace and development.

The programme offers an action and policy-oriented approach to human rights, democratisation and international relations from a legal, political, historical, anthropological, and philosophical perspective. Students have the opportunity to meet in a multi-cultural environment and be taught by a considerable number of leading academics, experts and representatives of international organisations (including the United Nations, the OSCE, the Council of Europe, and the EU) and non-governmental organisations.

The European Master's Degree in Human Rights and Democratisation (E.MA) brings together students from varied backgrounds and countries around the world, to engage not only in the study of Human Rights, but also in sharing ideas formed in different settings and unique places around the globe.

The E.MA students' experiences inspired us to organize the Human Rights Weekend on 4 and 5 December 2010 in Venice, including Movie Nights, building bridges – connecting through diversity, and a photo exhibition, Human Rights through the lens of the E.MA students 2010/2011, both on show at the Ca' Foscari University Auditorium in Campo Santa Margherita.

The programme of building bridges – connecting through diversity includes short and long film screenings and discussions covering a wide range of human rights related topics such as immigration, developing world, minorities, xenophobia and integration.

The photo exhibition will showcase 35 pictures taken by students, capturing their interaction with different cultures and peoples that have enriched their lives.

The movie nights film screenings and the photo exhibition aim to raise awareness about the significance of human rights in our community.

We wish to thank wholeheartedly everyone who supported our initiative and helped us to realize it.
